

Shine For Me

As you remember me this day,
Let sweetness blend with sorrow,
You are my gift,
Left of this earth,
To create a brighter tomorrow.

And, as you ever blossom and grow,
My legacy lives on;
So be my light,
Within this world,
Through you, still brightly shone.

Shine

A branch of red flowers, possibly gerberas, is silhouetted against a warm, golden background with a bokeh effect. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, and the overall mood is nostalgic and sentimental. The word "Shine" is written in a large, elegant, cursive font at the bottom left of the page.
